Smith's British Diatoms illustrates superbly four species. Single species are scattered here and there through diatom literature. But the available figures are as a class poor and scanty. Owing to the delicate markings that characterize this genus, the earlier investigators, like Lyngbye, Agardh, and Ehrenberg, confused the species to an extreme extent. It is impossible to look upon Greville's genus Diatomella as anything more than a normally distinct species of Grammatophora. The main mark of distinction relied upon for separation, namely, the single straight septa as seen in zonal view, is neither confined to this species nor important enough, were it peculiar to it, to form a basis for a separate genus. Thus varieties of G. undulata Ehrenb., G. arctica Cleve, and G. stricta Ehrenb.- show the same quality. This characteristic, together with the extreme minuteness and delicacy of this form, mark it as a sharply distinct species, nothing more. Were, however, its generic status valid, it would necessarily take Ehrenberg's older name, Disiphonia, instead of that of Greville. Grammatophora flexuosa Grun.; Van...
