Will China emerge as a global economic and political power in the 21st century?

By Daniel Döring

GRIN Verlag Nov 2007, 2007. sonst. Bücher. Book Condition: Neu. 212x147x1 mm. This item is printed on demand - Print on Demand Neuware - Scholarly Research Paper from the year 2006 in the subject Politics - International Politics - Topic: Globalization, Political Economics, printed single-sided, grade: 1,6, The University of Sydney, course: International Politics of Asia, 11 entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: China has become more interesting for investors and other global powers as it is developing very fast economically and politically. China has also become internationally very active in recent years, which certainly has attracted attention around the world. But we have to consider that China is still a developing country which is not willing to adapt in all areas of international reforms. Rising global powers, in this case China, have always triggered dramatic side effects or serious changes in the power structure of the world. Certainly imperial ambitions, aggressive expansion and striving for power are known to be the reasons for many wars, hence destruction and chaos. The world will have to cope with big challenges because of Chinas need for new recourses, power and recognition. China already goes international unacceptable ways according to Western powers...
